CLINICAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE EXPERIENCE

PCBH Expert Trainer

Defense Health Agency
Washington, DC

Duties: assisting the Department of Defense with implementation of integrated primary care behavioral health in approximately 200 primary care clinics on military bases around the U.S. and internationally. Responsibilities include site visits to assist and evaluate clinics in their efforts to integrate using both the Primary Care Behavioral Health (PCBH) and Collaborative Care (CoCM) models; development of training webinars and other training materials; training and mentoring of integrated behavioral health providers and primary care team members.

Supervisor: June Taheri, MD and Ben Guthrie (Contracting Agency Lead)
Dates: January, 2018 to present

Member and Founder

Whole Team, PLLC
Seattle, WA

Duties: founded and lead this consulting group that provides technical assistance to clinics, systems and providers implementing integrated primary care. Typical activities include on-site and remote trainings to primary care teams, including behavioral health providers; assisting leadership with program development and sustainability; and individual clinical training with integrated behavioral health providers. Most work is provided solely by me, though I also contract with other consultants as needed. Hundreds of clients served.
www.wholeteam.net

Supervisor: self-employed
Dates: March, 2018 to present

Lead, Primary/Ambulatory Behavioral Health

Swedish Medical Group
Seattle, WA

Duties: helped lead the start-up and development of a new primary care behavioral health service for Swedish, the largest non-profit healthcare organization in the greater Seattle area. Swedish has 34 primary care clinics; duties include both clinical and executive work. The clinical service we developed deploys the Primary Care Behavioral Health (PCBH) model, in which our behavioral health providers utilize brief interventions, see a high patient volume including the entire range of behaviorally-influenced problems and ages, and are immediately accessible. It is a team-based, population-focused model. My time was 60-80% clinical, with the balance reserved for administrative duties.

Supervisor: Arpan Waghray, MD (System Medical Director of Behavioral Health)
Dates: January, 2015 to January, 2018

Clinical Associate Professor

Arizona State University
Integrated Behavioral Health program

Consulting faculty for this unique Doctor of Behavioral Health (DBH) degree program that specializes in training mental health professionals to work in integrated primary care. Duties include writing, assistance with curriculum and program development, development and presentation of instructional webinars, and other miscellaneous faculty responsibilities. This is a .1 FTE position.

Supervisor: Colleen Cordes, PhD, Assistant Dean, College of Health Solutions
Dates: December, 2013, to present

Consulting Associate

Mountainview Consulting Group, Inc.

Consultative work helping organizations integrate behavioral health services into primary care, and mentoring individual practitioners of integrated primary care. Clients came from a wide swath of the healthcare system, including clinics and practitioners from community health, homeless clinics, the federal government, the private sector and others.

Supervisor: Kirk Strosahl, PhD (President, Mountainview Consulting Group)
Dates: August, 2013 to March, 2017 (Note I was a sole proprietor contracted with Mountainview)

Lead, Primary Care Behavioral Health Service

HealthPoint Community Health Centers
King County, WA

Duties: co-developed and led a primary care behavioral health service in this community health organization that is one of the two largest in Washington state. Patient population was diverse, mostly indigent and underserved; clinical work was in primary care and utilized the PCBH model (brief consultative, team-based work with patients of all ages and the entire spectrum of “medical” and behavioral problems). Started the service in 2002, later developing a practicum and APPIC-approved pre-doctoral internship program, and was awarded numerous grants. In addition to clinical duties, I supervised the psychologists and was responsible for overall administration of the service. My time was 80-95% clinical, the rest being administrative.

Supervisors: Judy Featherstone, M.D. (Chief Medical Officer), Evan Oakes, M.D (Medical Director)
Dates: September, 2002 to January, 2015, with a 1-year break 2008-09 to consult with Mountainview

External Consultant, U.S. Air Force Behavioral Health Optimization Program (BHOP)

Based from home in Seattle, WA

Duties: 1 of 3 consultants to the U.S. Air Force BHOP worldwide; focus of this work was to help the US Air Force implement primary care behavioral health. Duties consisted of site visits to bases for 1 week at a time, training primary care providers and the behavioral health providers working in primary care, and working with hospital leadership to overcome systemic barriers to success of the service. This was one of the largest training initiatives ever undertaken by the U.S. Air Force Mental Health Service.

Project Leads: Kirk Strosahl, PhD (Mountainview Consulting), and Lt Col Tracy Neal-Walden, PhD
Dates: April, 2008, to May, 2009

Clinical Psychologist (Military)

David Grant Medical Center

Travis Air Force Base, CA

PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZING

The ASU Virtual Conference Series on Improving Access to Behavioral Care

Organized a series of twelve two-hour virtual events spanning six months, each event spotlighting a different strategy for improving utilization of/access to behavioral care. Over 20 experts from around the world presented at this conference with over 550 registered attendees.

Dates: December, 2023 to July, 2024

PCBH Community Forum

Organizer of this annual continuing education offering focused on the PCBH model of integration. Each year I recruit, plan and coordinate 25-35 speakers from various professions, often national or global experts, to present on various topics related to PCBH. Staff from the Collaborative Family Healthcare Association (CFHA) assist with logistics. The event is sponsored by CFHA and Arizona State University.

Dates: October, 2019 to 2022 (once per year)

PCBH Founders' Boot Camp

Organizer of this annual continuing education offering that gathers the six primary developers of the PCBH model to teach the model basics to attendees. Staff from the Collaborative Family Healthcare Association (CFHA) assist with logistics. The event is sponsored by CFHA and Arizona State University.

Dates: October, 2021 to 2022 (once per year)

PCBH Innovation Center (PIC)

Helped start and co-lead this new organization that planned to serve as a hub of information and resources regarding the PCBH model of integrated care. I was a member of the Strategic Leadership Group. The PIC was funded by Cornerstone-Whole Healthcare Organization (C-WHO).

Dates: March, 2020 to December, 2022

White Paper: Considerations for APA Ethical Standards Revisions.

Organized and co-led a group of 11 national integrated care experts, ethics experts and American Psychological Association (APA) representatives in developing a white paper for APA's Ethics Code Task Force. Co-led the writing effort, which produced recommended changes to APA's ethical standards.

Dates: March-September, 2019
